Jorge is directly responsible for the overall implementation and supervision of McCownGordon's safety and health program, overseeing all construction projects in Kansas. His direct responsibilities include job site inspections, employee training, program development and implementation, and enforcement of safety rules.

McCownGordon associates and trade partners adhere to strict procedures for those working on a project site and we always ensure a safe working environment. Our safety culture and track record stem from involvement, leadership and dedication of our management teams and associates.

Jorge's prior experience with the Kansas Department of Labor – Industrial Safety and Health Division as well as being bilingual in English and Spanish was a great fit to McCownGordon, and his goal is to provide the safest working environment for everyone.
