As a graduate of Wichita State University's Physical Therapy Program Nancy has practiced in a variety of settings. She found her calling in July 2000 when she opened her own clinic to help other business leaders prevent and manage work related injuries. Clients she is currently serving include Textron Aviation, The Coleman Company, Koch Industries, CNHi, Excel Industries, Airxcel and Smithfield Foods to name a few.

Nancy holds certifications in ergonomic analysis, job demands assessment, functional capacity evaluation and soft tissue mobilization. In addition to presenting at multiple professional organizations, she has published several articles on various injury prevention topics.

In her spare time, she enjoys camping, hiking, traveling and building Legos with her grandson and playing hide and seek with her granddaughter.
